

I strongly oppose weakening the Indiana telephone privacy law. Because I do business with a company does not mean they have the right to disturb my privacy. They can send something in the mail if it is important.